Dearest Jason Brother,

I just sit next to Papaji who took out "Wake up an Row" Volume I because he read a letter where a young man writes that he burst out into tears of recognition while reading the first chapter - He reads out loud to Jyoti and me and smiles radiantly "A wonderful, wonderful book, I never knew - that's why people all over the world are getting it reading it." Then he continued reading - you know how he does it - he reads the words for the first time and actually he speaks the same words of the first 2 pages to a young man from Germany this morning.

As soon as you had left Papaji asked "Where are the 500 US Dollars from Er?" - So you see the money went back to the source!

I also had a very beautiful meeting with Sven and Hanselin afterwards, I never knew before that we could meet so deeply.

The day with Papaji in the house have been so blissful and the joy of talking with her about all that cannot be spoken to anybody else will have to do for a long time - maybe the both of you come back earlier this Time?

From the feet of our Master, where I live in the awe and radiance of His Beauty I send you all the love which is bursting my heart
